

22 UWH Munich Open Air tournament

München Peissenberg

5. June 2014

Never mind underwater hockey, the first evening of the 2014 Munich Open Air tournament was about a different kind of sport: something with 22 people chasing a ball for 90 minutes, and at the end, the Germans won. Between and after watching football games, everyone gathered around the campfire for a nice barbecue, stocking up on carbohydrates in the most Teutonic of ways: meat, kartoffelsalat and weissbier. The next day of course, was all about hockey. In the splendid open air pool and under a blue sky, Wahoo Zürich lost some games, won some games, improving our game during the day and scoring 37 goals in the process, and ended up 8th out of 12 teams. A great performance, celebrated with a glass of cava in the hot water bath and a race down the water slides. Yours truly was even so satisfied (and knackered) he didn't mind one bit his compatriots lost 1-0 to Argentina in the football thingy. The tournament was capped off by a nice party and a delicious weisswurst-breakfast the next morning. All in all a very well organized event (kudos to UW-Hockey München!), a solid hockey performance and most of all a great weekend on the road with friends. Bring on July 2015!

Brecht Gosselé

Martin, Katherine, Brecht, Zsuzsa, Fanny, Olivier, Krishna, Janine, Philipp, Alexander und Guillaume feiern mit einem Cava im warmem Bad.

Neben UW-Hockey gab es zur Abwechslung etwas Fussball.